

PureOne – The All-In-One Monitoring Device

Take your monitoring solution to the next level

The PureOne is a best-of-breed one-piece tracking bracelet for continuous location tracking of offenders both indoors and outdoors.

The device is extremely lightweight, secure and robust with cordless charging to ensure a minimum impact on the daily activities of the monitored person. Designed to track people with multiple location monitoring mechanisms and the built-in LTE cellular module used for secured communication with the PureMonitor (central monitoring server) to display rich information about the monitored person's activities.

Using the latest advancements in location and communication technologies, the PureOne is a future-proof tracking bracelet delivering optimal performance and highly accurate tracking. Full compatibility with all other PureSecurity devices via BLE allows pairing with PureCom or PureBeacon stationary devices for indoor location verification where needed.
